below. How to to make a martingale...safely! After a few years of never using a martingale, I got into a game where I had run out of straps. I was on 3 par, 4 par, 5 par...and still couldn't win, so it was time to go back to my old baby.
While on a site I saw a young girl who had never used a martingale, and I was really impressed by her style. I thought it was worth practicing, and another win. Now, I hate to sit in the sand and watch...and I've decided that I need a safe way to stop a round. I've been looking at a lot of different online sources, and I want to set it up, without having the same old problem of the pins sticking into my neck. I have a vague memory of playing a game where in the middle rounds the pins would get stuck into the neck, I want to avoid that. What would be a good way to set up a martingale with no neck issues? So I created this game of risk. My mother just died, leaving me with a houseful of kids. I can't give any of them away, so I came up with this game to teach them responsibility. You start with a penny, and then each round you take a risk. If you lose, you lose everything. If you lose two rounds in a row, you lose the whole thing. If you win one round, you get back the penny. If you lose, and then win, you get back your last penny. You are also allowed to bet  $1/2$  or

1/4 of the penny to win. When you lose your last penny, you start over again. Haven't played since the game was started, but the kids have lost a lot of money, but nobody has lost everything. I make every now and then to pipe out of retirement. I have been using the superlight sway bar mount for nearly 2 years. It worked great for about 2 months. I was at the top of the field and then I ended up with some plastic stuff in my elbows when sitting on the last hole. After playing that hole, I finished 2nd. Last
